ON A RELIEF TRAIN IN RUSSIA

Through Samara, a District Where Mothers in Thousands Desert Children, Too Weak to Endure Their Pleas for Nourishment—A Kitchen and Hospital on Wheels.

(Note—Anna Louise Strong, the first American woman reporter to reach Moscow since the famine, is now en route to the Samara district, where starvation and plague are taking their toll of lives by the thousands daily. All along the route the special relief train is met by hordes of refugees telling of the plight of at least forty million men, women and children.)

(By Anna Louise Strong.)

(Copyright, 1921, by International News Service.)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

En Route from Moscow to Samara, Sept. 2.—(By courier to Moscow, by radio to Berlin and by cable to New York via London, Sept. 6.)—The train on which I am traveling to soviet Russia's death district—Samara—is a combined hospital and kitchen on wheels.

It contains food cars, kitchen cars and a dispensary car, a waiting room for patients, staff quarters, a bake house, a kitchen, a bath and a laundry, all large enough to accommodate four thousand children.

For it is primarily to the children that the relief workers are devoting their initial labors. Altogether thirty thousand of emaciated little ones must be removed at once from the pest infested region. In Samara city alone there are four thousand who have been abandoned by their parents. In another district there are 600,000, of whom 194,000 are between 7 and 16.

Does it make your blood freeze in your veins to read that mothers leave their children on the door steps of railroad stations, with the words, "Take them, we don't want them?" Does it make you shudder with horror at such "cruelty?"

Listen! To call these unfortunate women "cruel" is a slur on motherhood, and a mockery of their sufferings. The mothers who do that do it because they can bear no longer to see their little ones stare at them with questioning, accusing eyes; because they can no longer listen to the rasping, hunger-hoarse voices, begging food; because they can no longer stand the pain of babes clutching and tearing and tugging at their haggard breasts, because they have not the strength to hold them any longer. Some one, anyone else, they think, can, must, will do more for these tots than they can.

The train on which we are rolling through the barren steppes filled with refugees is drawn by a German locomotive, one of the gifts received since the world began to realize Russia's plight. It carries bread donated by peasants who have been blessed with a fair harvest and who give all their surplus to the sufferers. Food, fats and beans donated by the American Society of Friends make up the balance of the rations. Now and then we pass through villages or towns where the misery is not so great; there, groups of townspeople, loaded with donations, await the train and gratefully we take aboard the precious additions to our cargo.

Meanwhile, as we roll along slowly—Oh, so slowly, when every mile gained or lost means probably a thousand lives or deaths—the news of our coming travels ahead of us, first by wire as far as the telegraph will carry it, then by courier.

It is a thrilling thought that we represent to those thousands and millions of suffering humans the answer to their prayers and an infinitely sad second thought that—because of the world blockade—we will be too late for innumerable victims.

A doctor who has been out there in death land, and who is going back on this train, told me of the terrible sights he saw. "Hunger of that kind, you know, is so depressing, so weakening, that if you let a piece of food fall to the ground in the midst of such a group of human corpses who have had nothing to eat but ground roots, they just stare at it with disheaded eyes, but they do not move. Perhaps one or two will faintly lift a hand—an unspeakable gesture of despair, for it has scarcely been lifted when it drops back, limp and lifeless. They are too weak, you see, even to grasp the thing that will soothe their gnawing pain and perhaps save their lives.

"But the most pitiable of all sights is that of mothers trying to nurse their children—trying you understand, for that's all."

London, Sept. 6.—Fancy cigar holders for women have made their appearance in London stores. They are accompanied by a small pair of clips with which to cut off the end of the cigars.

ANGLO-FRENCH FRICTION RENEWED

British Charge Briand With Repudiating Indemnity Agreement and Dealing Directly With Germans For Preference in Indemnity Payments.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, England, Sept. 6.—A new clash between England and France is developing with German indemnity as the chief issue at stake. The conflict over reparations question threatens an acute domestic situation as well as a new international crisis, it was declared by officials today.

France, by her action on German reparations payments, has complicated the financial plans of the British government.

England had expected the reparations plan of the Allies (drawn up a few weeks ago) to become effective at once and Austen Chamberlain had written into the British budget the sums which England expected to receive from Germany. Premier Briand of France, has upset these plans.

It now develops that the last meeting of the supreme council was not only sterile on Upper Silesia, but that the subsequent financial agreements have been discarded by France.

British officials charge that Premier Briand, of France, refused to submit to the French chamber of deputies, the inter-Allied indemnity agreement because France har arranged payments directly from Germany through M. Loucheur, French minister of liberated regions, and Herr Rathenau, minister of reconstruction in the German cabinet.

Senator Doumer, the French minister of finance, had accepted the Allied plan for distribution of German indemnity although it provided payments to other countries before France. When this agreement was handed to Premier Briand he refused to accept it on behalf of France and refused to submit it to the chamber of deputies.

In the meantime conferences were going forward between Herr Rathenau and M. Loucheur. As a result of these "direct action" conferences and in consequence of the rejection of the Allied plan for distribution of indemnity it is claimed by British officials that France will receive more and England will receive less than had been agreed upon originally.

As the situation stands at present. England and Italy are in line and are supposed to have drawn closer to Germany in a commercial way because of their opposition to French pressure upon Germany. However, Germany is accused of giving France preference in reparations payments despite the amicable attitude of the Anglo-Italian statesmen.

WOMAN HURT IN CAPSIZED AUTO

Dr. E. E. Norwood of this city was called to High Falls Monday to attend a woman who had been injured when an automobile she was driving turned over. Her back was injured and she was bruised but not seriously injured. The woman and her husband, who drove a car bearing a Connecticut license, are said to be related to Mr. Conners of St Remy and were visiting there. Monday, the men folks went to High Falls on a fishing trip. The men were fishing near Ira Woolsey's camp at High Falls when the accident happened. The woman who was injured had driven the car a short distance up the road to turn around when she backed down a bank and the car turned over.

Mr. Woolsey, W. Frank Davis and others who happened to be near at the of the accident, secured planks from Mr. Woolsey's camp and lifted the car so the driver could be released. Dr. Norwood was summoned and with Edward Mower later took the injured woman to St. Remy.

QUOTATIONS AT PUBLIC MARKET

New York, Sept. 6.—One man was burned to death when fire gutted a West Side tenement early today. Five other occupants of the building were rescued by firemen. Abiel Sabel, 23, is the dead man.

LEAGUE LOSING SOUTH AMERICA

Chile Serves Notice She Will Quit If Her Differences With Bolivia Are Taken Up—Balfour "Put Over" Hollander For President.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Geneva, Sept. 6.—Despite statements issued from the official propaganda bureau of the League of Nations tending to deprecate the effect of the desertion of Latin-American states from the League assembly meeting in session here today, it is no longer secret that the leaders fear the results upon all South and Central America.

The assembly at the second session of the present meeting began discussion of the agenda. The Europeans are trying to stave off a fight between Bolivia and Chile over disputed territory. The European statesmen fear that Chile may follow Argentina's action in withdrawing from the League.

The Chilean delegation has already served notice that their country probably would withdraw if the League agreed to Bolivia's request to take up the South American quarrel. The Bolivians intimated that they might ask for a revision of the treaty following the war of 1894 of which Bolivia claims that Chile obtains undue advantages.

Chile maintains the League has no right to consider old privileges that were awarded under a treaty negotiated many years before the League was created. If Bolivia becomes aggressive in her attitude the situation may become serious.

The defeat of Dr. Da Cunha, of Brazil, for the presidency of the assembly by foreign minister Van Karnabeek, of Holland, marked the beginning of the dwindling of the strong Latin-American position in the League. Dr. Van Karabeek says his candidacy was engineered by that able British diplomat A. J. Balfour.

The Spanish speaking states, weakened by the loss of Argentina and the absence of several Central American states, were unable to "put Dr. da Cuhna across."

Dr. Canelas, head of the Bolivian delegation, announced that Bolivia is willing to delay action on the Chilean treaty if the League leaders desire time for further study of the situation, but that Bolivia will not withdraw her demands.

Sir Robert Cecil, of Great Britain, one of the chief sponcers of the League in the days of its infancy, and other European statesmen fear that if the South Americans are outgeneraled and defeated by the Europeans they may eventually join the proposed new combination of powers which President Harding has in view.

The Canadian delegates took an active part in the political maneuvers prior to the election of a president yesterday. They favored the election of Dr. Aguero, of Cuba, on account of his strong position in the assembly. The Canadians argued also that he was believed to be popular in the United States.

Public interest in the meeting has dwindled and the galleries were only about half filed today.

RACES CLASH ON BOARD STEAMER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 6.—An S. O. S. wireless to police headquarters reporting mutiny on board the shipping board freighter Chester Kiwanis, off quarantine, sent the police boat John F. Hylan scurrying down the bay under full steam early today.

When Inspector Hallock, commonding the Hylan, boarded the Kiwanis at the head of an armed party, he found nothing more serious than a free-for-all fight between thirty whites and twelve black members of the crew. A few strokes of the night stick soon brought calm.

The ship's captain, Charles Boothby, locked himself in his cabin, police said, to escape the attack of white members of the crew who charged the captain had favored the negroes. The negro engine force was endeavoring to protect the captain.

After order had been restored, the police withdrew. The captain refused to lodge any complaint against the crew, saying many of them were to be discharged.

While many of the crew were bruised and cut, all refused medical attention. They had fought with knives, clubs and whatever was handy.

STILL HOPE FOR PEACE IN IRELAND

British Cabinet, However, Is Said To Be In Favor Of Setting Time Limit of Ten Days For Sinn Fein To Accept Dominion Principle.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 6.—Although the Ulster press is predicting a renewal of warfare in Ireland the hope ran strong here today that the cabinet, at its meeting in Inverness tomorrow, will find means of preventing a resumption of the Irish conflict.

Belief is strong that Premier Lloyd-George will make sharp reply to the Sinn Fein note of last Thursday and possibly will set a ten day time limit for acceptance of the six main points in the original English peace offer.

The International News Service was informed that Premier Lloyd-George, Lord Birkenhead, Colonial Minister Churchill, Austen Chamberlain, Sir Hamar Greenwood and Sir Robert Horne—all members of the cabinet—favor a time limit for the Sinn Fein's acceptance of the principle of the English offer. Three other members of the government—Stanley Baldwin, Edward Shortt and H. A. L. Fisher—opposed an ultimatum.

Most of the cabinet members are in Scotland, where Lloyd-George is on vacation at Gairloch, and it was understood that a preliminary meeting would be held this afternoon to formulate the groundwork of the British reply which will be drafted in the regular cabinet meeting on Wednesday.

So far the Irish truce has not been broken, except in Belfast, although increased military activities are reported, especially in Ulster, where the Ulster volunteers—an anti-Sinn Fein organization—is rapidly being recruited to its full force.

There has been no lessening of the extreme gravity of the situation since the publication of Eamonn de Valera's note Sunday. Significant of the uncertainty in official circles was the fact that the Daily Chronicle and the Pall Mall Gazette both organs close to Lloyd-George, refrained from any Irish comment today.

Contradictory reports were received from Dublin as to the tenor of sentiment in South Ireland. In some quarters of the Sinn Fein area the belief is held that hostilities will be resumed; in others that the peace door will not be closed and that an amicable settlement will yet be arranged.

Extremists in Ireland and England alike are taking advantage of the present deadlock for a strong attempt to block peace by compromise and there is unmistakable evidence that Inverness will become the final battleground between the clashing sections of the cabinet. If the "irreconcilables" are victorious there is every prospect that the negotiations will end; if they are beaten the negotiations will continue.

The Manchester Guardian, which is noted for its independence, forecasts an extreme effort by the Tory clique, while the Morning Post sounds the Tory keynote in a leading editorial. It must be admitted, however, that the language of the Morning Post editorial is more moderate than it has been the custom for that newspaper to use in discussing Irish policy. The Morning Post points out that the Sinn Fein government at Dublin is forbidding the British authorities to make arrests and alleges that the Sinn Fein is conscripting troops continuously and is drilling them. In addition, says the Morning Post the Sinn Fein is importing war material and levying taxes.

ULTIMATUM MAY AID DE VALERA

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 6.—Belief that Eamonn de Valera would welcome a time limit from the British government in which to accept the six chief points of the original English peace offer was expressed in a dispatch received by the Irish office today from Dublin Castle. It was pointed out that a time limit would strengthen de Valera's hand in dealing with Irish radicals and visionaries in general.

The tone of the message was only optimistic in part, however. It reported pessimism on the part of the British military authorities in Ireland over the activities of the military branch of the Sinn Fein. The Irish republican army is constantly drilling and has been for two months. It has been reoutfitted entirely. In some manner it has secured many guns and great quantities of ammunition.

It is realized, said the Dublin message in quoting British military officials, that if the truce is ended it will mean war operations on the largest possible scale.

HAD POCKETS PICKED.

Members of Newburgh Ball Team Had Unpleasant Experience.

Several members of the Newburgh ball team who played the Colonials here on Labor Day had an unpleasant experience. They placed their street clothes in the locker room at the Y. M. C. A. and when they returned from the morning game found that they had lost about $25. They had been informed by the man on the desk in the "Y" to leave their valuables at the office, but being in a hurry had not done so. The police department was notified.

ESTATE REJECTS DOCTOR'S CLAIMS

Executor of Late Mrs. Cole Claims Dr. B. W. Gifford's Services To Her Were Free Under Old Custom, She Being Clergyman's Wife—One Of His Claims Paid.

A two days' hearing was had in surrogate's court last week in the matter of the claim of Dr. Bertram W. Gifford against the estate of the late Annie Frances Cole, deceased, late of the town of Saugerties. The executor of the estate is Horace Deming of New York, a prominent lawyer. The claim is for $698.50 for services as attending physician which claim was rejected. Mrs. Cole's husband who died a short time before her death was the rector of the Trinity Episcopal Church of the village of Saugerties.

The reason for the rejection of the claim of Dr. Gifford is that it was understood that the doctor was to follow the old custom of giving free attendance to a clergyman and a clergyman's wife. The claimant denies the allegation. Another claim of the doctor was paid.

An adjournment was taken until September 19. The hearings which were before County Judge Fowler as acting surrogate, Surrogate George F. Kaufman being disqualified on legal grounds, were taken up with testimony of nurses and members of the household as to the services of Dr. Gifford. Expert testimony will be taken at the adjourned hearings. John W. Eckert is the attorney for the claimant; Howard Chipp for the executor, Horace Deming.

LEAGUE ASSEMBLY IS ORGANIZED

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Geneva, Sept. 6.—The territorial and treaty dispute between Bolivia and Chile, which threatened to cause another withdrawal from the League of Nations, failed to come up in the League of Nations assembly meeting today. The Bolivian delegates said that the fight had only been postponed as they intended to press their claims against Chile. The Chileans threatened the withdrawal of their country from the league if the Bolivian-Chilean treaty of 1894 were taken up for revision.

The Chilean-Bolivian fight was crowded out by a long argument over the method of organizing committees. The discussion of a genda, which was to have taken place today was postponed until tomorrow. The organization of the assembly was completed this afternoon by the election of vice-presidents.

While the assembly failed to take up the South American issue, delegates discussed it informally and efforts at conciliation were attempted.

HUNGARY HAS STRONG ENEMIES

Who May Try To Oust Her Force That Invaded Austria And Thus Precipitate New War—Monarchist Agitators Complicate Situation.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 6.—The threat of a new war hung over Central Europe today. Hungarian irregulars were reported to have invaded Austria occupying territory after a battle in which many were killed.

The delivery of a warning message from the inter-allied council of ambassadors to Hungary has been held up at the request of Italy. The note is being strengthened and may be transformed into an actual ultimatum. Italy fears that the "Little Entente" will send troops to oust the Hungarian irregulars unless they can be induced to withdraw by peaceful pressure. If the "Little Entente" moves to throw out the Hungarians from West Hungary, Italian statesmen fear war.

The "Little Entente" is composed of Czecho-Slokakia, Juzoslavia and Roumania. All these powers are at loggerheads with Hungary.

The allies have been aroused to some anxiety by news of monarchist activities by the Hungarians at Steinamanger. Representations have been made to Switzerland regarding former Emperor Charles and the Swiss government replied that he is being carefully watched to prevent his departure to Hungary to attempt another restoration coup.

Died On Steamer.

A few minutes before the steamboat Homer Ramsdell reached its 24 Jew York city, on the trip down from Newburgh, Sigmund Waldman, a tailor of 344 East Ninth street, was stricken with heart disease and died. He had been asleep in a deck chair and probably was dead an hour before his son tried to arouse him. The body was taken in charge by relatives.

Some Labor Day Speeders.

Motorcycle Officer Soper on Labor Day arrested three tourists on a charge of speeding. All three gave bail for their appearance later. The three were Henry Vallante of Brooklyn, Harry R. Fox of Brooklyn and Sigmund Berger of New York city.

GEN. BANDHOLTZ MAKES REPORT

Finds Conditions Quiet In West Virginia And Recommends Early Withdrawal of Federal Troops—President Not Yet Home.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 6—A lengthy report on conditions in West Virginia mine war zone was received at the war department today from Brigadier General H. H. Bandholtz, officer in charge of the general situation.

General Bandholtz's report was made after he had conducted an extensive survey of the entire field, in which he found conditions tranquil.

Washington, Sept. 6—Early withdrawal of the federal troops now patroling the mine war zone in West Virginia, was forecast today by officials here in view of the complete quiet which has prevailed since the regulars reached the scenes of conflict.

High officials of the administration were loath to order the troops into West Virginia and it was predicted today that they will seize the first opportunity to bring them out.

A recommendation for the troops withdrawal is generally expected from Brigadier General H. H. Bandholtz, officer in charge, following his day in the field yesterday during which he made a wide spread investigation of the situation.

What will follow the withdrawal of the regulars is a matter of conjecture among officials here. Some officials believe that the situation has quieted to such an extent that both sides will take a more sober view of the differences that have led to open warfare.

Others, however, incline to the belief that the struggle between the miners and the operators will be renewed with fresh intensity as soon as the soldiers leave.

In any event, it is not predicted that definite action will be taken until General Bandholtz's report is received and an opportunity has been afforded for the president to consult his advisors regarding the situation.

If President Harding and members of his cabinet who spent Labor Day away from Washington reach the capitol in time today it is probable that the regular Tuesday meeting of the cabinet will be held and consideration given the West Virginia situation.

MANN, "GERMAN CARUSO," DEAD

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Berlin, Sept. 6.—Joseph Mann, the "Caruso of Germany," is dead today. He collapsed with apoplexy while singing in Verdi's "Aida" at the Royal opera house at midnight. Herr Mann was holding a high note in the second act when suddenly he put his hands to his heart and fell unconscious. He was the greatest tenor Germany ever produced.

Mann was booked to sail for New York on October 18. According to the Berliner Tageblatt, he was to have succeeded Enrico Caruso at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York city. The singer's wife was in the audience and when her husband collapsed she fainted.

HUNGARIANS INVADE AUSTRIA

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 6.—Hungarian irregulars have invaded Austria and occupied Kirschlag following a battle with Austrian gendarmerie in which many were killed and wounded on both sides, said a Central News dispatch from Vienna today.

The fighting lasted several hours. Allied troops were sent to the scene from Weinwernustadt to restore order.

After the Hungarians crossed the frontier the Austrian population fled in terror. The Austrian troops were compelled to retire.

SHOT IN VENDETTA.

One Niagara Falls Cicilian Dead, Another Wounded.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 6.—The Sicilian vendetta that has thrown a large portion of this city into a panic, recorded another chapter late last night when Samuel Marquesa, 26 years old, was shot dead and Joseph Seidle, 21 years old, a barber, of No 113 Eleventh street, was shot in the right arm. Police with firearm pistols, captured Seidle, who had a bullet wound in his right arm, and then went into the back room where they found Marquesa dead with two bullet holes in his chest. Four shots had been fired from Marquesa's pistol while all of the chambers of Seidle's weapon held discharged shells.

Wood Alcohol in England.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Manchester, England, Sept. 6.—Local magistrates report that methylated spirit drinking is increasing greatly among women of the working class owing to the high price of whiskey.

A Chauffeurs' Examination.

The state department will hold a chauffeurs' examination at the city hall Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock.

SPENCER TRIES TO KILL SELF

Prisoner In County Jail, Who Acts Peculiarly And Carried Pistol, Cuts Throat With Penknife But Wound Is Not Serious.

Luther Spencer, an inmate of the Ulster county jail, attempted suicide about midnight Monday night by cutting a gash in his throat with a penknife.

Spencer was committed to await the action of the grand jury by Police Justice John B. Ball of Marlborough on August 5, for carrying a concealed weapon. He said his home was in North Carolina, and was a stranger in Marlborough, being picked up by a constable there who saw the butt end of a revolver sticking out of a pocket. The revolver had four unexploded cartridges in it. He was classed as a "nut" by Jailor Robert B. Evory as he was a peculiar acting person. In the cell with Spencer was Henry Smith and Charles Watson, and they immediately gave the alarm that something was wanted in the jail by pushing the button of the electric bell, the ringing of which sent night jailor Jocelyn in the jail in a hurry. He, and Dr. Dudenhausen who happened to be at the Sheriff's office, gave Lawrence attention, dressing the wound in the throat which fortunately was not very serious.

CREEK BRIDGE IN THE MOVIES

Pathe Weekly Camera Man Expected on Job Today to Take Pictures of Mrs. Nelson at Work Over Rondout Creek.

Word was received this morning from the Pathe Weekly that they would send a camera man to Kingston this afternoon to take moving pictures of Mrs. Catherine Nelson, the only woman welder in the world, at work on the Rondout creek bridge. The Pathe concern issues a weekly news reel which is shown throughout the country in the leading movie houses.

It was understood that the camera man while here would snap some pictures of the lineup of automobiles waiting for the Skillypot. While there was a much larger number of cars in line Labor Day the line today also extended some distance waiting their turn to board the ferry for Sleightsburgh.

It is expected that Mrs. Nelson will complete her job of welding on the bridge either this afternoon or Wednesday.

CITY HOME REMEMBERED.

The following gentlemen have conducted the Sunday afternoon services: The Rev. H. Cornford and Mr. Norris, Frederick Kelsey and the Fair Street Reformed Christian Endeavor Society.

TAKING A JOY RIDE.

In Buffalo Man's Car And Were Picked Up Here.

Labor Day afternoon Officers Soper and Fatum stopped Ralph Shultis, Benedict Beck and Jack Farrel, who were driving through Kingston in an automobile owned by Jack Kenney of Buffalo. It developed that Kenney had left the car with Beck at Woodstock for some repairs and Beck took the other two for a joy ride. No arrests were made as no complaint was lodged with the police but the car was placed in the police garage and Kenney notified. The trio returned to Woodstock in a taxi.

A Tourist Knocked Down.

Gabriabid Michaeliak of White Plains backed his automobile on Ferry street Labor Day afternoon and struck John Eisele of Union Hill, N. J., knocking him down. The ambulance was called and conveyed the injured man to the Kingston City Hospital. His injuries will not prove fatal.

Dead in Austrian Fight.

MULE RACE AT RHINEBECK FAIR

With Prominent Women as Drivers —Theodore Roosevelt to Open Fair— Good Road Promised From Ferry Landing.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

One of the features of the opening day of the Dutchess county fair at Rhinebeck on Wednesday afternoon will be a match mule race at 1:30, with Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt and Mrs. Griswold Webb as drivers. Mule races were first featured at Rhinebeck two years ago when Mrs. Vincent Astor and Mrs. Roland Redmond drove an exciting race that created much interest. Since that time mule races have become very popular at the annual fair of the Dutchess County Agricultural Society.

The fair will be formally opened at one o'clock on Wednesday with an address by Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. These features, together with a parade of decorated cars and a baby show, are expected to attract a large gathering.

Mrs. Astor and Ogden Mills will furnish from their dairies on each day of the fair milk for babies at a tent to be conducted by the Dutchess County Health Association in charge of Miss Ruth McKechnie.

The new state road from the Rhinecliff station to Rhinebeck will be opened on Wednesday morning so that Kingston people may motor direct to the fair grounds without detouring. A large portion of the new concrete road has been completed, and Kennedy Brothers, the contractors, will keep the balance clear for traffic every day of the fair, which will continue for the balance of the week.

FLATBUSH.

Flatbush, Sept. 5.—The Woman's Missionary Society meeting is to be held next Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Louis Shaw, at Lake Katrine, the meeting to begin at 2:30 o'clock, new time.

Mrs. Lee of the east neighborhood has been sick for several days.

Many of the boarders are leaving for their homes.

The Rev. J. B. Steketee attended special meeting of Classis last Monday, when the Saugerties Reformed Church and their pastor, the Rev. J. V. Wemple were released from their respective responsibilities.

On Sunday, September 11th, the service at the church will center in the thought of Religion in our Public Education. The public schools open again on September 6th, and this service will be appropriate. Let all parents and all others interested in education arrange to attend this service, as education is being stressed more than ever.

SAMARA'S FOOD IS EXHAUSTED

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Sept. 6.—Half a million Russians are threatened with immediate death from starvation in the Samara district unless aid is rushed quickly, said an urgent "S. O. S." received here today from the American relief workers at Moscow.

The telegram was forwarded to Walter L. Brown, chief of the American administration of relief in Europe, who is at present in Geneva.

The message asks that food supplies be rushed with extra speed, saying that the situation in Samara is more serious than was first reported.

"Forty per cent of the inhabitants had fled from the village we visited and the remainder was preparing to move," said the message. "Half a million are in direct want. Every hour counts."

Samara is the name of a government or province on the Volga river in the heart of the famine region. However, it is but one of about ten districts ravaged by starvation.

AT THE THEATRES.

Fight Pictures at Opera House— "The Jailbird" at Keeney's.

Douglas MacLean, the popular Paramount star scores a big hit in "The Jailbird" at Keeney's where he appears again tonight. The scenes of the story are laid in a small town and in a penitentiary where our hero does time for violations of the law. But when he attempts to swindle the residents of a small town by promoting an oil boom and disposing of a large amount of stock his efforts are foiled by the oil well "coming in" and he finds himself the town's richest citizen. Doris May is his very capable and pretty leading woman. Buster Keaton in "Neighbors" is the scream of your life and is well worth seeing. Wednesday, Marion Davies in "Buried Treasure."

The Auditorium tonight presents a red-blooded story of the hills of the Cumberland country, "Fighting Kentuckians," a thrilling human story of the great feuds and fighting folks of the moonshine regions. Wednesday, Eileen Sedgwick in "The Diamond Queen."

JOBS GO BEGGING.

Border Enforcement Agents Are Hard to Get.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Although there is a serious unemployment situation throughout the country now, the government has a number of positions which it is having difficulty in filling. These jobs are prohibition enforcement billets along the Mexican and Canadian borders.

One of the drawbacks, prohibition officials said today, is that the mortality rate among agents along the two "far flung bottle lines" is excessively high. The rum runners shoot 'em off as fast as the bureau sends 'em out.

FLEEING ANGORA.

Turk Civilians Leaving City as Greeks Advance.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Athens, Sept. 6.—Greek airmen report the civilian population of Angora—former Turkish Nationalist capital—in wild flight, said a dispatch from Smyrna today. All the roads leading eastward from the city were said to be choked with old men, women and children. Most of the fugitives were compelled to leave their belongings behind. The Greeks are still advancing in the Angora sector but were compelled by the rugged nature of the country to slow down their march.

First on the Appetite List

ONCE the crispness and charm of Grape-Nuts have been tested by the family, there's one item that stands prominently out in the marketing list thereafter.

That's Grape-Nuts.

The twenty hours of continuous baking have produced, from the natural richness of wheat and malted barley, a food that is uniquely sweet with sugar developed from the grains themselves, and whose crispness and flavor make a delightful appeal to every member of the family.

And Grape-Nuts is soundly nourishing —a great builder of health and strength.

Served with cream or milk, as a cereal for breakfast or lunch, or made into a pudding for dinner.

See that your marketing list includes this delicious, economical food, today. All grocers.

PESKY BED BUGS

Bedbugs lay "gobs & gobs" of eggs upon you. Under favorable conditions they hatch in five days of which two-thirds are females. They mature to adult size and are capable of laying in four weeks. How many bedbugs would you have in a year if you left one female or egg undisturbed for one year? To rid the pesky bedbug, you can readily see how necessary it is to use a preparation that will kill the eggs as well as the live ones. P. D. Q. has been demonstrated by the leading Hospitals, Hotels and Railroad Companies that the safest and most economical way to stop future generations of bedbugs, roaches, fleas and ants is to use the new discovery "Pesky Devils Quietus" "P. D. Q."

A 35c package of P. D. Q. makes a quart, enough to kill a million bedbugs, roaches, fleas and roaches and at the same time destroy their eggs.

Impossible for them to exist when P. D. Q. is properly used. Free, patent spout in every package to get the pesky devils in the hard-to-get-at-places and save the juice.

Special Hospital and Hotel size $2.50 —makes five gallons of P. D. Q.—your druggist has it or can get it for you, or sent prepaid upon receipt of price by the Owl Chemical Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Success of P. D. Q. has caused imitators; genuine P. D. Q. is never peddled.

CORK STRIKERS HOIST RED FLAG

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Dublin, Sept. 6.—The red flag of Bolshevism was hoisted over Cork harbor today. Striking dock workers at Cork seized the harbor office, ejected the secretary of the harbor board, Sir James Long, and began collecting taxes and harbor dues. The leaders of the strikers decided to form a soviet. They hoisted the red flag and then established picket lines defying any one to pull down the crimson banner.

A SCHEPMOES MEMORIAL.

Clinton Avenue Sunday School Honors Its Superintendent.

A memorial window in honor of Edgar B. Scheptmoes, superintendent of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Sunday school, was unveiled at the Sunday school service on Sunday.

The window was presented to the church by the Sunday school attendants, and is of beautiful design. It was placed in the church edifice during Mr Schepmoes's absence on his vacation. During the service on Sunday he was escorted to the rear of the Sunday school room, where the window has been placed, by Assistant Superintendent Frank Hyatt, who unveiled it. Mr. Schepmoes was was overcome by emotion but replied with great feeling to the address made by Mr. Hyatt.

Mr. Schepmoes has served as superintendent of the school for the past seven years.

AUGUST GIFTS TO "TB" HOSPITAL

During the month of August, the Tuberculosis Hospital was most generously remembered by its many friends. It will be recalled that some time ago an appeal was put in the Freeman by request from Mrs. Thomas Hayes for contributions of sugar and jelly glasses in order that the still loyal and generous groupe of Red Cross women might make jelly for the Tuberculosis Hospital and the City home, sufficient fruit having been given already.

In response to the appeal the following contributions were received: From Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lampman, 25 pounds of sugar and 2 dozen jelly glasses; Mrs. William Cohen, 7 pounds of sugar, 1 dozen jelly glasses; Mrs. John Decker, 2 dozen jelly-glasses; Mrs. J. Gulnick, 3 doz. jelly glasses; Mrs. E. H. Tindale, 2 dozen jelly glasses; Mrs. J. J. Diamond, 1 dozen jelly glasses; Mrs Ira Hasbrouck, 3 dozen jelly glasses; Mrs. Charles Lord, 1 dozen jelly glasses; Mrs William Smythe, 3 dozen jelly glasses; Mrs. Alice Rowe, 1 dozen jelly glasses, 2 pounds of sugar; Mrs. Benson Miller, 5 pounds of sugar; Mrs. A. M. Sutton, 5 pounds of sugar; A friend, 10 pounds of sugar, basket of crab apples; A friend, 2 baskets of crab apples, 1 basket of plums. The jelly was made by Mrs. Thomas F. Hayes and Mrs. Charles S. Hicks.

Other gifts included 3 couch covers, books, pictures, box of crayons, embroidery material; from Mrs. C. Kellogg; basket of peaches, Mrs. Teller; ice cream for all, Aaron and Ralph Cohen; old linen, 2 dressing gowns, bed room slippers, freezer of ice cream, Mrs. Mary K. Hoar; jelly and flowers, Mrs. E. H. Tindale; bolongna, and frankfurters each week, Mr. Abel; basket of peaches, Mrs. George J. Smith; 10 pounds of sugar, basket of peaches, Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, jelly and old linen, Mrs. H. F. Meinhardt; books, magazines, papers, Mrs. A. J. Thomas. In addition, the patients who were well enough were given the greatly enjoyed treat of an auto ride around the Ashokan dam, with candy, ice cream and cigars served, through the kind thoughtfulness and good services of Mrs Mary K. Hoar.

Since the hospital has been repainted and generally improved in appearance there has also been a movement on foot to make some of the furnishings correspond in freshness and newness.

The porch chairs have been newly painted and through the generosity of Mrs. Sam Bernstein and the Loyal Friends' Aid Society, 14 bright, new cretonne covers for the porch chair cushions have been made, and 24 new stand covers improve the looks of the rooms, the gifts of the same friends of the Hospital. In order to make all this refurbishing possible there have been gifts of money with which to purchase the materials, and when the patients are all made comfortable and cheery in their surroundings the nurses' room will come in for much needed renovation. Contributions to the fund were as follows: Frank Coykendall, $10; Mrs. Myron Teller, $5; Columbia Shirt Factory, $15.50; Knights of Columbus, $20.

As has been said before, only those who, with more or less frequency visit the tuberculosis hospital can at all realize how deeply all of these gifts are appreciated, by the superintendent nurse, Miss Gapp, her assistants, the patients and the superintendent.

M. Bullot with wife and daughter.

M. Bullot, the Mayor of Compiegne, France, with his wife and daughter. It is charged that the Mayor is responsible for having an eighteen-year-old boy, who was said to have burned the Mayor's farm, crucified and burned. The event took place in 1914, when the Germans were outside Compiegne. This is the second time the attention of France has been called to this atrocious crime. It is said that the infuriated villagers, urged on by the mayor, crucified and horribly mutilated the boy and, while there was still life in his body, he was burned at the stake.

LABOR COUNTS THE COST.

The fact that New York city labor unions decided not to hold a Labor Day parade because the money which would have been spent for it is needed for the support of men out of employment is an indication that cooler heads among the union men realize the seriousness of existing conditions. A referendum resulted in what one of the leaders described as a "fifty-fifty" vote. The men holding jobs who are contributing to the support of those who are out of work were opposed to a useless parade. The unemployed wanted to parade. Not long ago unemployment, either by reason of strikes or slackened industry, was made the excuse for parades. The idea of the paraders apparently was to impress the public with the number of men out of work so that the public would bestir itself to furnish work or end the strikes.

The spirit which prompted the men who are earning wages to conserve their resources for a practical purpose—the support of themselves and their less fortunate companions—would not have had any such visible manifestation two years ago or even a year ago when in spite of slackening industry a large element counted on a return of war-time prosperity and continued high wages for but little work. In comparison with many other cities Kingston has been fortunate during the present industrial stagnation but the lesson taught by the New York unionists nevertheless may well be considered not only under present conditions but likewise when prosperity returns. Thrift and industry are the basis of prosperity.

CLEAN SPORTS.

When Governor Miller appointed the athletic commission he realized that there was a sincere desire of the people for greater control over sporting events and he placed upon the members the responsibility of making athletic contests clean. The Governor believed it was within the possibility of members to regulate boxing so that some of the charges against it would be eliminated. The boxing game had come in for a full share of criticism, much of it deserved undoubtedly, even if some was over-drawn. However, that there was room for improvement was apparent or there would have been no occasion to amend the statute permitting a new commission.

The members are in perfect accord with what the Governor wanted and some advance has been made. Rules and regulations have been changed as to contestants and as to the privileges of clubs which conduct exhibitions. Some of the objectionable features have been wiped out. There are other advances to be made, unquestionably, but the purpose of the commission, apparently, has been to go slow and avoid errors on the part of the commission itself. The main object is to make boxing a sport rather than allow it go on at the level as a fist fight.

George K. Morris, one of the commissioners, and a well known manufacturer at Amsterdam, in a recent statement, said that perfection in anything was impossible, but he was firmly convinced that eventually boxing would be regulated so that it would have a proper place under the heading of athletics. Mr. Morris stated that he was speaking the mind of the commission when he said the determination of every member was to control the contests so that they would not be objectionable.

The view of Commissioner Morris is that boxing is here to stay and the course to pursue is watch it and keep it clean. While there may be those who do not approve of boxing in any shape or form it appears that the idea of Mr. Morris, and the commission, is sound and about the best that can be offered at present. If the ambition of the commission is carried out, the obnoxious features which have been reported may be reduced in number to such an extent that little if any opposition will be voiced.

While there is never any particular noise about the opening of the schools, nevertheless what the school does counts for more than anything else in the world. Without education this would be a dull place to live in, and the worst of it is some children never get a real measure of the value of education until out of school. If the boys and girls could only see what an education will mean to them they would work with more diligence. Many a man has said: "I had the chance to go to school a year or two longer. Now I wish I had." This has been said many times and with a tone of regret.

What do you know about Nature subjects? Send any question of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper. Look for answers in this column.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Do all birds lay several eggs?
2. Is it true that some animals use their tails as signals?
3. What are land shells?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. Do skunks hibernate??

In northern situations, yes, for several months. In milder latitudes, for a few weeks. Far south there is no need of hibernation. In mountainous situations rocky dens are chosen; in prairie country, an underground burrow is often made, with a sleeping chamber, grass lined, at the end. A hollow stump or tree will sometimes serve.

2. Will toads give warts to anyone that handles them?

No, this is a superstition. The toad is harmless. The notion of its skin being unhealthy to human touch possibly comes from the fact that the toad keeps its body moist on the outside by secretions from glands, and the creature is not really pleasant to grasp.

3. What is meant by calling birds summer residents and winter residents?

It means they nest and rear young in a given locality, but do not stay all-the-year-round, as woodpeckers, bob white, chickadees, etc., do. Summer residents after bringing up families, go south to warm climates in autumn. Winter residents come down from a northern breeding spot in autumn, and spend the winter in a milder but not tropical region. A bird that is a summer resident in Canada, might be a winter resident in the states. The application of the terms depends on the situation.

ON-A-JOB, OFF-A-JOB JIM!

Being a Story

Of how Jim got on a job and why he got off it again.

Jim's job the next morning was even more unpleasant. He was put on the garbage team and told to go the rounds of Cassidy. Jim sniffed!

"Take it or leave it!" said the boss. Jim took it.

"Uncle of mine," he muttered, "if you could only see what your freak will is leading me into. City swill man! Just because I must get a new job every two days in order to inherit What was it?"

Cassidy seemed a friendly chap and appeared anxious to make Jim's work as light as possible. He insisted on going to the biggest houses, while Jim was sent to the smaller ones where the garbage pails were not so full. When night came, Jim was glad that one day was over and only one more remained for him.

Cassidy had disappeared behind a sumptuous residence, where Jim finally looked for him, impatient over the long wait. As he approached the rear of the house he heard laughter, and found his companion chatting merrily with the housemaid.

"What's your hurry?" said Cassidy. "A pleasant word now and then won't hurt a soul. Never mind that!" he cried. "I'll attend to them garbage pails. Leave them alone now!"

"I might as well—"

"No you won't!!" He pushed Jim roughly out of the way. "This is my job. Now you get out."

The youth backed, watching Cassidy, however, as he emptied the garbage pail into his own larger one. He saw him lift an article from the pail into his coat pocket. Jim said nothing until they had returned to the team. "What was that?" he asked suddenly

"What's what?"

"The article you slipped into your pocket."

"Now what busines is it of your's."

"You found something in the pail. What was it?"

"Well, if you must know—have a look!" Cassidy lifted a heavy silver spoon from his pocket. "I found it. It's mine."

"I should say it belonged to the people of that house."

"Finding's keeping. Ain't that true?"

"Not if you know who the owner of it is."

"But I don't know—for sure."

"You're quibbling. Cassidy, you'd better take that spoon back."

"Well, I won't. Not for you or a dozen like you. What right have you to come interfering with my business? Tain't the first time I found and kept silver, and glassware, and even jewels."

Jim gave up arguing after a while. He saw that it was a hopeless task to convince Cassidy of his dishonesty. But he felt that something should be done to prevent the loss of articles which were carelessly cast out and dishonestly retained. All day he meditated on the problem, almost convinced that he himself was a thief because of his guilty knowledge.

Toward the close of the day, he thought out a scheme. The next morning all the city papers carried stories with black headlines.

"Housekeepers, stop! Silver, jewelry, cut glass, lost through the carelessness of kitchen help! Guard your valuables by examining garbage before it is thrown into the pails!"

Thus it was that Jim warned the housewives of the town.

Iced coffee—the thirst-quenching drink.

There's no beverage like iced coffee for luncheon or dinner—indoors or out-of-doors. And it tastes just as good with the ice clinking in it, freshly drawn or poured from a thermos bottle.

Reliance Coffee, served ice cold, has that same distinctive taste which is so much appreciated in hot coffee—taste that makes the drinker call for another serving.

For Reliance Coffee tastes just as good as it smells—either hot or cold. There's no aroma quite so closely linked up with taste as coffee aroma and in Reliance it reaches perfection.

Order a pound of Reliance of your grocer today. Sold only in sealed oval canisters. You'll enjoy the coffee that tastes as good as it smells. Wm. T. Reynolds & Co., Inc., Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

COLONIALS LOSE FIRST HOME GAME

Newburgh Independents, Playing Superb Ball Behind Mysterious Pitching Ace, Turn Trick in 12 Innings 3-1.

The long lane of successive wins which the Colonials have enjoyed on their home grounds finally had its turn Monday afternoon. After twenty-eight consecutive victories on the Athletic Field, the Kingston team ran afoul of the Newburgh Independents, losing out in a great twelve inning contest by a score of 3 to 1.

To a tall young gentleman named "O'Malley" is ascribed the downfall of the Kingston team. "O'Malley," that is what the Newburgers said his name is, was in the box for the Hilly City club, and it was unanimously voted by the large crowd of fans present that he is "some" pitcher. "Where does he come from?" and "what team does he pitch for?" are questions the fans would like to have answered.

It was the irony of fate that Leo Fitzgerald, whose marvelous fielding has saved game after game for the Colonials, should be credited with his first two errors of the season Monday, both of which figured in the run getting. And it was the same Leo Fitzgerald who sent the game into extra innings when he scored Kingston's only run with a home run drive in the eighth inning.

The "breaks" that figure in all closely contested games all went the wrong way Monday. The toughest "break" of all came in the seventh inning. With two out and no one on, "Bud" Culloton hit a terrific drive to left field. It was a home run drive if ever there was one, but the ball hit an automobile and bounded back on the field, cutting the hit down to two bases. The next hitter went out and "Bud" died on second.

Opposed to O'Malley when the game started was "Bill" McAuliffe. "Mac" pitched a beautiful game, pulling himself out of a hole time and time again. A sore arm prevented McAuliffe from pitching the entire game, Culloton, who had been playing first base, relieving him in the ninth.

Sensational fielding by both teams cut down run after run. Rice gathered in fouls all over the field. Cy Connors had eight chances and accepted them all, and Deegan played a sterling game at short. "Kid" Moore's splendid throw cut down to a three base hit what looked like a sure home run drive by O'Malley in the tenth. Hopshe, at short for the visitors, pulled off some fielding stunts that a "Rabbit" Maranville would be proud to make, and Anderson in left turned two or three extra base hits into outs.

For three innings neither side was able to break into the scoring column, but the Newburghers broke the ice in the fourth. Two were down when Shay shot a single to center. The ball got by Fitzgerald and Shay took another base. Lester was passed and O'Malley strode to the plate. Could he do anything other than pitch? He could. He cracked out a single and Shay crossed the plate with the first run of the game.

One man was out in the Kingston half of the fourth when Jack Robins got Kingston's first hit, a single to left. Deegan was hit by a pitched ball. Two men on and no one out—it looked like a Kingston score. But O'Malley tightened up, and neither runner was able to dent the rubber.

With both pitchers going in fine style, that one run lead Newburgh had secured began to loom up larger as the game progressed. Runners would get on first, to second and even to third, but the hit that would bring them over was not there. Newburgh got three hits in its half of the fifth, but a splendid stop and throw to the plate by Deegan cut them off without a score.

Kingston entered the eighth inning with the score still 1 to 0 against them. It was up to them to do something. Excepting the Oneonta game, which was called in the eighth, no team this season had made them go more than eight innings to win on the Athletic Field, and they were determined to put over the tying and winning runs.

Fitzgerald was first man to bat. He caught hold of one and lifted it over an automobile standing near the right field foul line. When the ball was returned Leo was in home, and the score was a tie at one each.

More was retired, but Jack Robins got his second hit. "Here goes your old ball game, O'Malley," came from all parts of the field, but Mr. O'Malley thought otherwise. He put on more steam and Robins was left on second.

Culloton went into the box for Kingston in the ninth, and McAuliffe took his place on first. Newburgh was retired with little trouble and the Colonials came in to win out in their half of the ninth.

When Schwab, first man up singled as a starter, it began to look as if they would do so. Rice and Culloton went out, but Schwab had advanced to second, and the stage was set for the winning run. McAuliffe hit a short fly over second. It looked like the third out, but Jordan dropped the ball and Schwab made a dash for home. Two out and Schwab carrying the winning run. Could he beat the throw? Jordan recovered the sphere, and shot it like a bullet to Huston. The catcher caught the ball on a perfect bound, turned and touched Schwab for the third out.

The eleventh saw both sides with fine chances for scoring, but both Culloton and O'Malley were going along in good form, and neither side could put over the run that would break the tie.

Anderson started off the Newburgh twelfth with a single. A man on first and none out—"Bud" had often pulled himself out of worse holes than that. Hopshe, who had been a thorn in the side of the Kingston team all afternoon, hit one to center. Fitzgerald came in fast, but the ball fell from his grasps and both runners were safe. Jordan played the game and laid down a sacrifice, both runners advancing. Huston went out, and Martin faced the Kingston pitcher. Five times previous had he faced McAuliffe and Culloon, and not once had he been able to reach first. But this time he did, andtttt and hnl e io t niulod y did, and his single sent Anderson and Hopshe home with the two runs that spelled the first defeat for the Colonials on their home lot.

GIANT'S SCOUT HERE.

Jess Burkett Gives Colonials The Once Over.

Sitting on the Kingston bench during Monday afternoon's game was Jess Burkett, one of the greatest hitters baseball has even known and at present scout for the New York Giants. Burkett was looking over the Colonial team, and next year will probably see some of the local players in faster company. Deegan, Culloton, Fitzgerald and Robins are under the eye of the Giant scout, and it is probable that one or two of these players will soon be working out at the Polo Grounds.

Catskills Champions.

Catskill defeated Coxsackie Monday at Coxsackie, 6 to 4, in the third and deciding game of a series to decide semi-professional baseball supremacy in Greene county. The Catskills scored three runs in the first and three in the second innings, while the Coxsackies scored four runs in their eighth.

Not only have the results of our work been satisfactory to thousands in this vicinity, but many sufferers from distant places are continually coming to our offices in Kingston to regain and rebuild their health.

We take pride in the knowledge that we are accomplishing better and surer results than many in our profession.

We have succeeded in evolving a system of painless adjustments which is acknowledged far superior to any method heretofore in use.

This system, combined with the knowledge gained by our very extensive practice, makes it unnecessary that we supplement it with mechanical or electrical devices of unproven merit.

Our invariable rule is to never accept a case that we are not confident we can benefit. A dissatisfied patient can easily cause us more injury than a dozen satisfied boosters can overcome.

Therefore, if your health is below normal in any way, you should call on us and talk it over, with the assurance that there will be no cost or obligation on your part. If you cannot call in person, write or phone, and we shall be glad to mail you information as to how you may have better health by ending the cause of your present ailment. # Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

CHATS WITH BIRDS.

Mother Nature had had a message delivered to her from Peter Gnome.

"Peter Gnome Set Forth."

He had sent word that he wanted to take a trip every once in awhile to call on a group of her children and wondered if she would give him the power to understand their language on these trips.

She had promised.

But she had also sent word that creatures could understand the ways and even the talk of all her children if they would take the time and the trouble to do so.

She asked Peter Gnome to see that people got this message.

"They can understand the animals," she said, "if they will only study them and their ways and get to know them and understand them.

"And oh, they will find them so interesting!

"They will get to know the trees and the buds and the flowers if they will watch them and want to know them.

"Animals talk in so many ways; often by thumping and by signs and by sounds. They mean different words by their different sounds and we can get familiar with them.

"Do tell people this, Peter Gnome."

And Peter Gnome had promised that he would. He could understand what they said pretty well anyway but he wanted to understand them even better, and Mother Nature had told him he would be able to through the power that she would give him. And also because she knew he would understand her family for he would like them and because they would all like him.

So Peter Gnome set forth, wearing his best and gayest suit and jolliest cap, one spring morning to visit the birds.

They were everywhere. They sang and they trilled and they chirped. They talked and they scolded and they paid each other compliments.

They chatted almost without stopping.

And Peter Gnome chatted with them. Such a time as he had, talking and listening to them talk, singing with them and listening to them sing.

"Chirp," said little Robin Redbreast, "I'm ever so glad to see you.

"I'll sing and trill a special song for you and you can tell me if you like my best song.

"I've practiced it over again and again so that Miss Springtime will like it.

"If you can give people a message for us," little Robin Redbreast continued, "I wish you'd say that we love to have drinking dishes filled with water which are big enough so we can bathe in them. But tell them to see that they're not put where cats can catch us. Don't tell them, though," the Robin whispered, "that we're shockingly bad housekeepers as far as the neatness of our nests is concerned. We're not like those dainty housekeepers—the Maryland Yellow Throats."

"Hello, Peter Gnome," said Mr. Goldfinch. "You see I've changed into my golden suit from the dull brown one I wore all winter. Now I look like a wild canary and I'm sometimes known by that name and I sing like a canary—only not so well."

"I've just arrived," said the little Ruby-Throated Hummingbird. "My green feathers are looking their best, and I always see to it that my long beak is clean, and that my feathers for my throat come from those fine feather makers known as the Red Feather Company."

"I'm here," sang the Song Sparrow, "and some of my family have been around all winter. I'm not much on looks. I wear dull clothes, but I love people and I try to show my affection by singing all I can."

"I've Just Arrived."

"I'm often called a little robin," a bluebird warbled just a trifle longer than a robin. "But my real name is Bluebird."

"Phoebe, Phoebe," called a little olive-brown bird. "I'm chirping my name."

"Teacher, Teacher," called the Owen Bird. "My name is as it is because I build my nest in the shape of an oven, but I only say Teacher to make people think I'm always looking for wisdom."

And before Peter Gnome left the birds that day they came from all around and sang for him their most glorious song called Welcome the Spring.

The Biting Bark.

Little Jimmy, whose pet dog always wore a muzzle, was walking along a street when suddenly he saw a tree on a private lawn with a wire net around it for protection. Jimmie knew the kind of a tree it was and, turning to his aunt, he said: "Aunt Ethel, they even muzzle dogwood trees."

Stories of Great Scouts

By Elmo Scott Watson

© Western Newspaper Union.

HOW JACK STILLWELL WHIPPED A RATTLESNAKE

Gen. "Sandy" Forsyth's band of scouts had been surrounded by Chief Roman Nose's Cheyennes and in the sandy bed of the Arickaree river in eastern Colorado they were fighting for their lives one September day in 1868. They had no food; their doctor had been killed, and relief must come soon if they were to be saved. Forsyth called for volunteers to go to Fort Wallace, Kan., 100 miles away, for aid.

Every unwounded man at once offered himself for the perilous journey, but the general selected Pete Trudeau, an old hunter, and Jack Stillwell, a boy of nineteen. When night came the two scouts started. Taking off their boots, they walked backward down the dry river bed in their stocking feet to deceive any Indians who might come upon their trail.

When morning came they hid in a dry ravine within sight and sound of an Indian camp. They had nothing to eat or drink, and the sun beat upon them fiercely all day long. On the morning of the fourth day they found themselves on the open plain with no cover in sight.

Suddenly they came upon the skeleton of a buffalo surrounded by a rank growth of green grass. Into this scanty refuge Trudeau and Stillwell hastily crept. They were not a minute too soon. A large party of Indians appeared and halted within a hundred yards of their hiding place. The scouts were hugging the ground when Trudeau heard a hiss in the grass in front of him, and a second later a big rattlesnake crawled sluggishly out and coiled within a foot of the scout's head.

Stillwell was chewing tobacco, and just before the snake sounded his deadly rattle, the young scout leaned forward and shot the spray of tobacco juice squarely into the open jaws and eyes of the reptile. The rattler could not stand such a dose. He crawled hastily away. The Indians soon passed on without discovering the scouts. Stillwell's lucky shot had saved their lives.

Forty-eight hours later the two men reached Fort Wallace. Trudeau was completely broken by his terrible experience and he died a few days later, but when the relief expedition left Fort Wallace the undaunted Stillwell rode at its head. He lived to become a judge in Texas and a leading figure in that state until his death a few years ago.

Gambetta's Eye Preserved.

Very few of the hundreds of sightseers who have seen Gambetta's heart carried in procession through Paris know that another portion of his body is above ground. Long before his death one of his eyes was so badly damaged by a blow that it had to be removed, says the continental edition of the London Mail. The doctor who performed the operation caused the eye to be specially treated to preserve it. It was placed in a small glass phial, which the doctor gave to one of his pupils, now practicing as an oculist in Paris. He recently has expressed the intention of giving the eye either to the Gambetta family or to the state.

SUMMER STEP-SAVERS.

There are thousands of things we can eliminate during hot weather if we just think about them, and the following are some which may be modified to suit each household, or may suggest other ways to save work during the extremely hot weather:

To begin right the family should dress as cool as possible. White is the most popular of all goods, as it comes in thin weaves, washes so well and, if made simply, is not a laundry problem. Green and blue are also cool-looking. Every housewife should provide herself with at least one cool dress for sweltering days. With plain skirt and waist, or a one-piece affair with a simple fichu draped over the plainness, one will be in style year after year. A cool, fresh-looking housemother will refresh the entire family on a hot, smothering day.

The daily bath being a necessity, and some days semi-daily, the Turkish towel is a great convenience. Let each one take care of his own towels. After giving them a hot rub in the water, hang on the line and turn the hose on them; the sun and air will purify and dry them and the weekly wash will keep them in good condition.

A polished table with doilies, runners or the decorated oil-cloth covers will save oceans of laundry work. Small lunch napkins, or even the paper kind, will save much work.

Furniture, when repainted, if done in soft gray, may be decorated in various designs, making it most attractive and cool-looking. Cretonnes and summer draperies harmonize so beautifully with such coloring. Black and white is another popular and striking color note used much on furniture this year.

A good wetting of the concrete walks of the house night and morning will cool things off wonderfully. Open the house until well aired in the morning, then close for the day and it will keep much cooler, shutting out the sun by drawing shades and closing blinds.

Japanese Landscape Gardening.

With the Japanese landscape gardening holds a definite place as one of the fine arts. According to Julian Street, writing in the Century, Japanese landscape gardening began 1,200 years ago, when the Emperor Shomu, in residence at Nara, sent for a Chinese monk who was famed for his artistry, and ordered him to beautify the ancient capital. This the monk accomplished chiefly by cutting out avenues among the lofty trees, which to this day makes Nara not only a place of supreme loveliness, but one rich in the aroma of antiquity. Thus came the first period of landscape gardening in Nippon, the Tempyo period.

One Impediment Existed.

A clergyman was marrying an elderly couple in the country. All went well until he enquired and charged them both that if they knew of any impediment why they might not be lawfully joined together in matrimony they were to confess it. "I'm all right, minister," said the bridegroom, "but Martha, she lisps a bit."—London Tit-Bits.

ONE BRAND-

One Size Package

All our skill, facilities, and lifelong knowledge of the finest tobaccos are concentrated on this one cigarette—CAMEL.

Into this ONE BRAND, we put the utmost quality. Nothing is too good for Camels. They are as good as it's possible to make a cigarette.

Camel QUALITY is always maintained at the same high, exclusive standard. You can always depend on the same mellow-mild refreshing smoothness—the taste and rich flavor of choicest tobaccos—and entire freedom from cigaretty aftertaste.

And remember this! Camels come in one size package only—20 cigarettes—just the right size to make the greatest saving in production and packing. This saving goes straight into Camel Quality. That's one reason why you can get Camel Quality at so moderate a price.

Here's another. We put no useless frills on the Camel package. No "extra wrappers!" Nothing just for show!

Such things do not improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons. And their added cost must go onto the price or come out of the quality.

One thing—and one only—is responsible for Camels great and growing popularity—

That is CAMEL QUALITY.

INJECTED BLOOD MADE HIM BRAVE

The Strange Case of Right Fielder on Mountain League Gallupers Who Was Overnight Transformed From Arrant Coward to Fiercest Man in Mountains.

"As high rents and high taxes travel hand in hand, likewise courage and good red blood are inseparable," remarked the Old Timer.

"How's that?" asked the baseball fan.

"It reminds me of the remarkable case of All Night Willson, the right fielder on the Gallupers, leaders of the famous Mountain League," continued the Old Timer.

"He was without question the most arrant coward I ever ran across. He was so cowardly that he had never been known to question an umpire's decision or pick a fight with anyone. In fact to avoid a fight he would travel a hundred miles out of his way. But for the fact that he was also one of the most remarkable outfielders in the league he would have been fired from the Gallupers long ago."

"But one day there was noticed a change in him that was hard to define. From a timid mouselike sort of a man he became a raging lion, and if any one ventured to cross him he would promptly knock him down. What had caused this change was something that proved a seven days' wonder in the Mountain League, but All Night Willson kept a tight lip, and so fierce had become his actions that none dared ask him.

"But when finally the secret did leak out it was so simple that many wondered why they had not found the solution long before that. It all dated back to the time that a wagon circus passed through the mountains and one of the lions got loose and roamed all night in the mountains.

"It finally roamed too near the house of Willson, and fell into the hole he had dug for a cabbage cellar and was unable to climb out. Helpless to escape, the lion's roars brought Willson trembling to the window from which he peered fearfully, but he could not be hired to leave the house for a million dollars. With the coming of daylight his fears vanished and he ventured forth and to his amazement found the imprisoned lion.

"A live lion at liberty was as great a problem to Willson as a caged one, and while he was debating what to do the circus people, hunting for the animal, approached the house, and were overjoyed to find the brute fast and unharmed. They offered Willson any amount of money but he said that while he would not accept money there was one request he would like to make and that was to be furnished with an ounce of the lion's blood.

"It is hardly necessary to say that the circus people had never received such a strange request, but willing to oblige, the lion tamers drew off a small bottle full of blood from one of the lion's paws, and handed it to Willson with the question: 'What are you going to do with it?'

"That will be all right," retorted Willson, and he refused to divulge his intentions, but they were both simple and crude. Ashamed all his life of being called a coward he determined to inject the blood of the lion in his veins to see what effect that would have on him. Out in the barn where no one could see or question him Willson carefully injected the blood with a syringe in the calf of his leg.

That was at night, and the next morning when he arose he found a marvelous change had taken place. No longer was he fearful, but rather his nature had become so savage that he had the feeling to kill whatever living thing crossed his path. Paralyzed with fright over his condition he set his wits to work and reached the conclusion that if the lion's blood would react in such a manner to inject as an offset to the fierceness of the lion the gentleness of the lamb and he injected a quart of lamb's blood in his veins which neutralized the effect of the savageness of the lion, but so powerful was the lion's blood that it predominated in his system, and up to the time of his death he as known as the bravest man in the mountains.

Great Composer Crochety.

Beethoven was a bad tenant. During the thirty-five years he spent in Vienna he lived in 28 different houses. Where he was living a hundred years ago the most diligent of antiquarians are unable to determine. The longest he ever lived in one place was from 1810 to 1815. The explanation of this protracted stay is easy. Baron Pasquali, his landlord, understood him and appreciated him. Beethoven, enraged because some little thing went wrong, would move out, but the baron always refused to show a "To Let" sign, saying in his affable way: "All he'll come back." And the creator of nine symphonies did, until Pasquali died.

Hanging Religious Relic.

In many parts of the world hanging is the white man's method of capital punishment, a custom handed down for thousands of years. As a matter of fact, hanging is a religious relic. Odin, the great god, according to Norse mythology, once hanged himself, and on coming back to life promised that all who would follow his example would join a band of his companions and live happy ever after. Many followed this injunction voluntarily, and it became a religious ceremony. But soon office diminished, and the priests were forced to take prisoners of war, and finally criminals from which resulted the custom which is still followed.

That's what made him so husky."

There was a man who was so generous and yet so poor that when he died he called his children to his bedside and gave them all he had—smallpox.

The Kaiser's income has dwindled to a paltry $600,000 a year, and just as soon as we rustle money to have our winter shoes half-soled we are going to take a little time off to feel sorry for this bird.

In These Days.

"That woman is overdressed."
"Let me see her. She's a rarity."

Why do parrots swear? They never play golf.

Diagnosis.

It's very plain that Summer's wane
Is on," said Daisy Deever,
"For shoes of white look like a fright,
Straw hats have yellow fever."

"If our good intentions for the morrow would only keep from souring over night!"

The Trouble With Parsons.

"Mamma, I'se got a stomach-ache" said Nellie, six year old.

"That's because your stomach is empty: you've been without your lunch. You'd feel better if you had something in it."

That afternoon the pastor called and, in the course of conversation, complained of a very severe headache.

"That's because it's empty," said Nellie. "You'd feel better if you had something in it."

A man can no more be successful in his business if he does not love it than he can be happy in his home if he does not love his wife and family.

Why does a man swear to love before marriage and love to swear after marriage?

It now appears that our Shipping Board is a slipping board in some respects.

The ladies—God dress 'em—we can't.

An old hen by mistake had been setting on a "china egg" for months. One day she eyed it closely and said: "There must be Plymouth Rockblood in that egg.

Go fast and see our jail.

The Elkhart, Ind. Truth feller can remember the days when human people used to insist on straw hats for horses.

Extra Sumo.

An imaginative writer in a current magazine tries to speculate in regard to conditions on a planet lighted and heated by more than one sun. Inasmuch as very many suns are "doubles," and doubtless others occur in bunches, the notion of a planet enjoying the luxury of more than one is at least plausible. Presumably there are plenty of planets thus situated. Probably there are in the universe billions of inhabited planets, each one having its own conditions more or less unlike ours, and occupied perhaps by living creatures altogether different from ourselves or any that we know.

Hired to Sing for a King.

The most curious contract that ever an operatic star made was probably that of Farinelli, who, about the year 1734, was drawing an income of something like $25,000 per annum. This singer afterwards visited Spain, where the king, Philip V, was suffering from mental depression, from which nothing aroused him until the advent of Farinelli. The queen was so delighted to see her royal spouse once more interested in anything that she engaged Farinelli at a salary of $10,000 to remain in Madrid. This he did, singing the same four songs to the king every night for ten years.

Scottish Legend.

The ancient stone, where the Scottish St. George is supposed to have slain his dragon is still to be seen over the door of Linton church. The glen where the alleged slaying took place is about 200 yards from the main road, close to the Cheviot Hills and about four miles from Linton. According to tradition the "worm," or serpent, a monstrous creature, lay in the glen, and did havoc amongst the cattle, sheep, and other animals for miles around and many attempts were made by the knights of old to slay it, with disastrous results to themselves, until a certain William de Somerville came along and successfully accomplished the feat. For this act he was granted all the lands in the parish of Linton.

M. E. MISSIONARY PAGEANT HELD

After a most successful visit to Walton, Stamford and Margaretville, Dr. E. M. Osborne and the Rev. W. T. Abbott reached Kingston on Sunday to put on in the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church that evening the missionary pageant which they have given from Boston to San Francisco, in the interest of missionary education.

Dr. E. M. Osborne who conducted the pageant, is a son of Dennis Osborne the missionary, and was born in India, while Dr. Abbott is a retired missionary. The former portrayed the character of the mayor of an Indian village, in the first part, while in the second part he represented a low caste man. All the rest of the talent was recruited from the Clinton avenue church. Albert Shultis was Paul and Willis Ryder Mahomet.

Miss Burhans presided at the piano and Miss Eckert played the violin. There were 50 young people in the caste. The opening scene represented a typical Christian service in an Indian village with songs, handclapping and every evidence of praise and thanksgiving. Not only did Dr. Osborne have the 50 in the caste doing his bidding, but the 500 people who thronged the auditorium clapped their hands and joined in the service just as they do in India. It was much after the fashion of the services held in Clinton avenue 25 or 30 years ago, when Methodists were not afraid to manifest their enthusiasm in matters of religion.

Later on in the exercises Dr. Osborne represented a low caste man and showed how timid he was in approaching the missionary or the high caste people who were present. It was not until he received the assurance again and again that there was no caste in Christianity that he timidly approached the missionary and hesitatingly took his proffered hand. His conversion soon followed and when he learned that the Jesus whom they were telling about had touched a leper, he gained courage and embraced Christianity.

Then he became intensely in earnest for the 2,000 people whom he represented, and besought the missionaries to send them a preacher, when they sadly confessed they had no means to provide for one, he became utterly discouraged and would have gone back to Mahommedanism, when just at the opportune time a cablegram arrived stating that the centenary enabled the missionary society to send then one preacher from America and 8 native preachers. It saved the day, and the gratitude of the people was hard to conceive. The whole program lasted two hours and a half and was filled with humor and pathos. If there ere any ultra conservative folks present who though it wicked to laugh in church, they kept silent. The pageant was the best piece of missionary propaganda ever witnessed in Kingston, conducted by a master of psychology with considerable dramatic skill. After a fine tribute had been paid to the pastor the Rev. C. M. Cranston, the benediction was pronounced by the district superintendent, the Rev. Dr. G. W. Grinton.

An entire month will be spent by Dr. Osborne in this area, three or four days being given to each district.

Chicago Grain Market.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Chicago, Sept. 6.—Profit taking and hedging sales checked the brisk advance in wheat which marked the opening of the grain market.

A reaction in September corn, due to hedging sales, featured that grain and resulted in an easing off for all deliveries.

Wheat closed 1¼ to 3½ lower; corn ¼ to ⅝ lower; oats ⅛ to ⅜ cents lower.

Closing Prices.

Wheat—Sept., 1.26½; Dec., 1.29½ @ 1.29¼; May, 1.34 @ ¼.

Corn—Sept., 53⅞; Dec., 54⅛ @ ¼; May, 59.

Oats—Sept., 35¼; Dec., 38½ @ ⅝; May, 42½ @ ⅜.

J., was also present at the celebration. Mr. and Mrs. Scott are both well known and have the well wishes of a host of friends. For a number of years Mr. Scott was secretary of the board of health.

15th Wedding Anniversary.

On Monday night a surprise party was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Motrie at the home of Mr. Motrie's mother, 4 Cottage Row, in honor of the 15th anniversary of his marriage. About 30 people enjoyed the festivity. Dancing was indulged in and at 10 o'clock a supper was served. The decorations were pink and white. Mr. and Mrs. Motrie received many beautiful presents. All departed at a late hour wishing Mr. and Mrs. Motrie a long and prosperous happy life. Friends and relatives attended from Long Island, Brooklyn, N. Y., Newburgh and West Park.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

The funeral of Mrs. William Schwab, who died at her home in Ridgefield Park, N. J., was held Saturday afternoon on the arrival of the 2:15 o'clock West Shore train. Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery.

Oliver A. Bendewald died on Monday at his home, No. 38 Grand street, in his sixty-fifth year. For a number of years he was employed by Brown & Dressel. He is survived by his wife. The funeral will take place from his late residence on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment in the Esopus cemetery.

The funeral of Sabina C. Geary, who died Sunday morning, will be held from the late residence, No. 11 Wurts street, Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock and at 9:30 o'clock from St. Mary's Church, where a high Mass of requiem will be celebrated for the repose of her soul. Interment in St. Mary's cemetery.

Charles Frasier of Allaben, who has been ill for a long time, died Friday afternoon, September 2. The funeral was held from the Allaben Free Methodist Church Sunday morning at eleven o'clock. The interment was in the Shandaken cemetery. Mrs. Frasier has the sympathy of all her friends. A number of out of town people attended the funeral services.

The funeral of James Rodie was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late home, 98 Hasbrouck avenue, the Rev. C. G. Ellis, pastor of the Rondout Presbyterian Church, officiating. The bearers were Augustus Bestel, Peter Zeeh, Charles King, Herbert Cramer, James Buchanan and John Lannon. The interment was in the family plot in Montrepose cemetery.

The funeral of Thomas F. Stenson was held from the late residence, No. 3 Rogers street, Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock and at St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock where a solemn high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul. The Rev. Dean John J. Hickey officiated with the Rev. Father Duffy as deacon, and the Rev. Joseph Mannix as sub-deacon. The funeral cortege was very large and the services were very impressive. The bearers were John Egan, Cornelius Corcoran, Robert McAndrew, William Keating, Michael McGowan and John Ditty. Dean Hickey accompanied the remains to St. Mary's cemetery where interment was made.

The funeral of Agustin R. O'Connor who died at the Benedictine Hospital on Friday last, following an extended illness, was held from the residence of his brother James J. O'Connor, 19 Johnston avenue, Monday morning at 9 o'clock and from St. Joseph's Church at 9:30 where a high Mass of requiem was celebrated for the repose of his soul by the Rev. Martin P. O'Gara, while seated within the chancel were the Rev. Joseph McCann of Ellenville and the Rev. J. Breslin of New York city. The church services were largely attended, the deceased having possessed a large circle of acquaintances who held him in high respect and esteem. The Sisters of Charity from St. Mary's convent and the Benedictine Hospital also attended the services, the deceased's daughter being sister in the Order of St. Dominica. At the conclusion of the funeral Mass, Miss Elizabeth Cusick very feelingly sang, "Thy Will Be Done," followed by the singing of, "Nearer My God to Thee," by the church choir as the remains were being borne from the church. The casket bearers were John O'Connor, Augustus O'Connor, Cornelius Kalaher and John Costello. The interment was in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery where the Rev. Fathers O'Gara, McCann and Breslin conducted the services.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 6.—The stock market showed a strong tone at the beginning of business this morning featured by an advance in the Mexican oil stocks. Mexican Petroleum showed a gain of 6½ points at 112½, while Pan-American Petroleum was 2⅝ higher at 49 and General Asphalt rose 1½ to 48¼. U. S. Steel started ⅛ higher at 76 and Baldwin Locomotive rose 1¾ to 79⅞. Tobacco Products was again in demand moving up ⅞ to 66⅞ and United Retail Stores moved up 1¾ to 54½. The railroad stocks were fractionally higher. Studebaker started 1⅜ higher at 74½ and Kelly-Springfield showed a gain of 1¼ at 41. The advance in the Mexican oil stocks was due to the agreement between the Mexican government and the American oil officials over the export tax.

Many stocks made additional gains in the course of the first hour of trading and the market generally maintained a strong tone, new buying orders being in sufficient volume to more than overcome the realizing sales. Mexican Petroleum at the end of the first hour sold at 111½ or within 1 point of its initial upturn. Pan-American Petroleum moved up to 49¾ and General Asphalt advanced to 49. United States Steel advanced to 77, a gain of 1 point and Baldwin Locomotive moved up to 80½. International Harvester advanced 2 points to 79⅞. Railroad stocks were fairly active, Northern Pacific advancing 1¾ to 74½ and then reacting to 73¼ and Southern Pacific rose 1⅝ to 77⅞.

In the afternoon the market became irregular, some issues being in moderate supply and losing a material amount of the early gains while others made additional gains. The copper stocks demanded most attention because of continued buying. American Smelting, Anaconda and Utah Copper showing gains of over 3 points over Friday's final prices but receded slightly after these upturns. United States Steel reacted to 76¼ and Baldwin Locomotive sold off from 81⅛ to 80¼. Crucible Steel was strong, making a further advance, selling at 59⅜. Mexican Petroleum rallied to 111.

The market closed irregular; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds irregular.

New Time Tables Sunday.

New time tables will go into effect on the railroads September 11.

Schools Opened Today.

The city schools opened today with a large attendance of scholars.

Little Coal on Atlantic Coast.

With the exception of the small deposits of anthracite in Rhode Island, the only coal deposits on the Atlantic seaboard of this continent are those in the maritime provinces of Canada.

A novel tour of some of the French battlefields has been staged by Briagder-General Cornelius Vanderbilt in his yacht Romola, piloted by Captain Leonard Rouse, of the British Naval Reserve. The yacht left from opposite the French Foreign Office. Plans are for travel through the network of rivers and canals until Dunkirk is reached. The party will follow the Seine to Charenton, thence into the Marne. If low water prevents navigation of the Aisne-Marne Canal a return to Paris will be made and the trip continued through the Oise and the St. Quentin Canal as far as Cambrai.

THE JOINERS.

The first troop train arrived at St. Albans, West Virginia, from Ohio, and immediately marched to the coal mine district. Other trains brought the infantrymen and equipment from the Fifth Corps Area of the Middle West. The first contingent was met by Colonel Stanley Ford, of the War Department General Staff. The photograph shows an army train proceeding to its destination.

SEARCHING FOR BODIES IN THE DEBRIS OF THE ZR-2.

Even after the broken airship had lost all semblance to its former shape, the search for possible survivors continued. Small boats made their way fearlessly into the wreckage, pulling at the cloth and pushing aside girders.

BOATS WITH RESCUERS RUSH TO AID FALLEN ZR-2.

Hardly had the ZR-2 hit the water when small boats filled with eager rescuers rushed to the middle of the Humber river, where the airship lay. But the best efforts of these willing workers was largely in vain, the clumsiness of the wreckage holding back the work of rescue.

THE ZR-2 AS SHE APPEARED AN INSTANT AFTER HER FALL INTO THE HUMBER RIVER.

For an instant after striking the water the ZR-2 held the shape shown. Then she began to go to pieces. Buried in the wreckage were the bodies of the dead and dying. It can be seen why the efforts of rescuers, who had to tackle such a bulky mass, were not more successful. The picture shows the ZR-2 immediately before the smoke of a smouldering and burning wreckage began to surround it.

SUTLIFF BUYS CORNER SITE

Local Packard Agency to Erect Salesroom and Service Station at the Head of Broadway, on Old Hotel Site.

Sutliff, Inc., local distributor for the Packard automobile and truck, with sales rooms on Broadway, recently acquired from the Barman estate the Relyea building on Maiden Lane at the head of Broadway, and will shortly begin to demolish the present building and erect a modern two story sales room and service station.

The property acquired by Sutliff, Inc., joins the property of C. F. Gray on Broadway and extends along Maiden Lane. On the site at present is the story and a half frame building which is known as the Relyea building. This building will be demolished and up-to-date sales rooms and service station will be erected. The building has a large frontage on Maiden Lane and being at the junction of Broadway, Albany avenue and Maiden Lane will afford unusual display windows.

Work on the erection of the new building will be started within a short time.

SHADY.

Shady, Sept. 6.—Several from this place attended the clam bake held at Bearsville Thursday afternoon and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Reynolds and son, Fred, and Jane Evans and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Reynolds attended the picnic held at Forsyth Park, Kingston, Wednesday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Benson Lapo and son, Harrison, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lapo of Woodstock.

Mrs. Walter Babbitt is ill at this writing.

Decker Gardiner of Ulster Park spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Gardiner.

Ruby Carle spent Wednesday with Mrs. Ishmael Rose of Bearsville.

Mrs. Robinson of Kingston is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Gardiner.

Gerald B. Reynolds is the owner of a new Chevrolet car.

Mrs. Gordon Gould and daughter spent Friday with her aunt, Mrs. Earl Lane, of West Hurley.

William McMurdy of Woodstock called on friends in this place Sunday.

BEARSVILLE.

Bearsville, Sept. 6.—The annual Odd Fellows' clam bake, which was held last Thursday evening, proved a decided success both socially and financially. A large crowd began to assemble at about four o'clock. In a short time the clam shells began to clatter and in a few hours ten thousand of them had disappeared. The tables which would seat 100 at a time were filled with all the good things that one's stomach could desire, sweet potatoes, sweet corn, frankfurters, boiled ham, pickles, cheese, etc. Through the kindness of William A. Shaw of the Fairbanks Morse Home Lighting Company, the grove was brilliantly lighted, adding greatly to the effect of the scene. Mr. Shaw did this in demonstration of the lighting system and as a result took several orders. Much credit is due to Victor Lasher, chairman of the committee, and his staff of efficient workers, who arranged and carried the affair through with such success. Several prospective candidates for the order is one of the results.

School opened Tuesday with Miss Maybelle Satterlee as teacher.

Mrs. William Stahl and daughter of Rhinebeck spent a few days last week with her mother, Mrs. Henry Eckert.

The Lasher Farm House had a number of guests over Labor Day.

George Ronk is visiting friends in Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Weaver and son of New York are camping in the pine grove of C. R. Shultis. They also have a room in his tenant house to occupy during damp and unpleasant weather.

The food sale conducted by the Ladies' Needle Craft Society Saturday afternoon was largely attended.

MOHOXK TEAM LOST.

Warren's Pitcher Stingy When Hits Meant Runs.

Mawenzi, 7; Mohonk, 5. That ended a perfectly good game of baseball at Lake Mohonk Monday in which a couple of real thrills were registered. The first thrill came in the first inning when Jake Cantel better known to three named mentioned fame of Mohonk as Babe Ruth by reason of his appearance, crashed the ball into the center field woods for a home run. The second came in the last of the third after Mohonk had stationed three men safely on the bases, with none out. Miles, whose ability as a pitcher needs no introduction, taunted the next three men facing him on ten pitched balls. The entire Warren team played and hit well. The Warren lineup was as follows: Miles, p.; Jordan, c.; McDermott, 1b.; W. Ryan, 2b.; Manning, 3b.; Carter, ss.; Center, lf.; T. Ryan, cf.; F. Tuttey and C. Ryan, rf.

A number of people from out of town attended the chicken supper held in the Reformed Church the past Tuesday. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Edwards, Mrs. Herbert Carl and Mrs. T. D. Lewis of Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis of Stone Ridge.

The summer guests are leaving this place, returning to their city homes, after spending their summer vacation here.

Miss Louise D. Van Wagenen of Kingston came out the past week to spend Wednesday with her aunt, Miss Mary C Van Wagenen in honor of her eightieth birthday. Miss Gertrude Van Keuren of Kingston whose birthday was on the same day was also a guest at Locust Hurst Cottage and was given the honor of making the birthday cake in which she did due credit. It was decorated with pink and white candles and in the center was placed a bouquet of white flowers. Myrtle also twined around the cake gave an artistic effect. At this birthday supper only Miss Van Keuren and her nieces, the Misses Louise and Cynthia Van Wagenen, were present. In the evening however Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Edwards, Mrs. Herbert Carl and Mrs T. D. Davis of Kingston came up to call and a most delightful hour was spent.

On Wednesday evening Miss Jessie Snyder and Miss Belle Van Wagenen spent the evening at Locust Hurst Cottage. Miss Snyder, who is on from California brought views with her and gave a most interesting description of the different scenes, also of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado, which she visited on her way out east. Before leaving the guests were served with birthday cake and muskmelon, the melon being the gift of Mrs. Kate Wager. A most enjoyable evening was spent and the guests wished Miss Van Wagenen many more happy birthdays. This call came at the end of a perfect day for in the afternoon Mrs. Kate Wager and two of her guests with their car took Miss Van Wagenen into Kingston to call on her sister, Mrs. L. J. DuBois. It was a pleasant surprise to both. Miss Van Wagenen also received a postal shower, the majority of which were from former pupils, and who remembered her as their first teacher. Among the number of cards were some from the Vroom family also a letter from Mrs. Vroom.

PROTEST BOTH MONDAY GAMES

Both games played by the Colonials against the Newburgh Independents were played under protest by Captain Schirick. Newburgh used in its lineup in both games players who were not connected with the team when the Hudson Valley Semi-Pro league was organized a few weeks ago. This is contrary to the league rules, as all clubs in the league were required to submit a list of their players to the league secretary and to use only those players whose names appeared on the list O'Malley, who pitched the winning game for the Independents Monday, was not a member of the team when the league was organized and is therefore ineligible to play in any league contest.

AMERICANS BEST.

Their Tennis Laurels Look Safe For Near Future.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

New York, Sept. 6.—America need have little fear of losing the Davis cup in the immediate future, if the results of this year's series of matches, concluded Monday at Forest Hills, may be taken as a criterion.

This was the concensus of opinion among tennis devotees today as a result of the American team winning five straight matches from the Japanese.

Tilden and Johnston wound up the series Labor Day. Tilden beating Kumagae and Johnston disposing of Shimidzu. This made it five straight against a team that came down to the challenge round past the world's best tennis playing nations outside of America. The Japanese promise to challenge again next year and Kumagae predicted today that Japan will send much better players than himself and Shimidzu in the future.

JOHNSON WINS BET.

Runs From Albany To New York In 28 Hours, 20 Minutes.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

New York, Sept. 6—Samuel A. Johnson, 44, semi-professional runner and newsboy, today celebrated his feat of making a continous run from the state house at Albany to New York's city hall, 160 miles, in twenty eight hours and twenty minutes. He consumed altogether 20 minutes in stops for lunch. This is what he ate and drank on the way:

Three cups of tea.
Three glasses of milk.
Three pieces of toast.
Six poached eggs.
A pound and a half of grapes.

He wore indian moccasins of his own make and made the jaunt to win a $1,000 bet. He won it.

BEAT HUTCHISON.

Jim Barnes Can Claim Title of World's Champion.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Great Neck, L. I., Sept. 6.—World's champion.

This is the title long Jim Barnes the American open golf champion, can claim today if he cares to as a result of his victory over Jock Hutchison, of Chicago, who won the British open title at St Andrews, Scotland, earlier in the year.

Barnes defeated Hutchison in a specially arranged match over the links of the Soundview Golf Club here Monday, five up and four to play.

The contest was labelled a world's championship event by the club members, who put up $2,000 as a purse for the players.

WILSON STILL CHAMPION DUB

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Sept. 6.—Johnny Wilson is still wearing the middleweight championship crown today, even though it is tilted at a precarious angle.

The Charlestown claimant of a title made immortal by Fitzsimmons, Ketchel and Papke earned a draw with Bryan Downey at the end of twelve rounds in Tex Rickard's big pine saucer at Jersey City, Labor Day and the question of who's who remains unsettled.

The New Jersey boxing commission, meanwhile, is holding up Wilson's end of the money—$35,000—until it investigates the efforts made by the champion Wilson was ludicrous, it is true, but no more so than Downey after all is said and done, for the Ohioan is the personification of clumsiness.

The only thing that can be said in Downey's favor is that he showed a willingness to mix it and tried hard to force the fight at times. Wilson, probably remembering the Cleveland bout tried to make a careful fight and depended mostly on countering after Downey's clumsy swings had either landed or gone swishing by the mark as they so often did. Just imagine twelve rounds of this sort of thing, punctuated by numerous clinches, and you have the story of the bout in tabloid form.

The middleweight division is indeed a huge, side splitting joke if Wilson and Downey are to be recognized as the best men in it, and there are at least 35,000 metropolitan fight fans who will have other engagements any time this pair is re-matched around New York.

Monday's bout was without a doubt the most thorough exhibition of incompetency, wild swinging, clumsy countering and sluggish ring generalship that has been seen around this neck of the woods for many a day. It went the limit and it was the limit.

Johnny Buff, the little flyweight champion showed more ability as a boxer, a clean hitter and a ring general in five rounds against Indian Russell, a wild-eyed wild man from Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, that both Wilson and Downey exhibited in their whole twelve rounds and then had some to spare. Buff knocked Russell for a star gazing trip in the fifth and really earned the right to keep his Rickard belt, whereas Wilson retains his because Downey was unable to knock him out.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES.

Giants and Yanks Break Even—Ruth Gets 51st Homer.

Thirty-eight thousand fans saw the Gaints and Braves divide a twin bill. Toney's home run so exhausted him in the first game that the Braves hammered him for enough runs to win.

The Senators and Athletics broke even. Hasty won his own game in the 11th with a pinch hit. Magridge easily won the first game.

The Tigers beat Wilkinson but Chicago had already won the morning game with Kerr in good form and got an even break.

The Reds took the Pirates' measure in 13 innings in the morning game but Cooper held them to four hits in the afternoon pastime.

The Dodgers and Phillies met twice and Grimes and Miljus won for Brooklyn by decisive counts.

The Cubs also dropped two games, losing twice to the Cards who hit timely behind better pitching.

Ruth got his 51st homer as the Yanks divided the Labor Day attraction with the Red Sox.

The Indians and Browns fifty-fiftied a pair of slugfests. Elmer Smith of the tribe, got three homers in the two games.

Labor Day Fight Results.

At Jersey City—Johnny Wilson and Bryan Downey fought a 12 round draw.

Mike McTague won a popular decision over Panama Joe Gans in 12 rounds.

Johnny Buff knocked out Indian Russell in five rounds.

Solly Epstein and William Spencer fought an eight round draw.

At New Orleans—Pete Herman won a popular decision over Charley Ledoux in a ten round no decision bout.

At Atlanta—Bill Brennan knocked out Singer Brown of Australia in one round.

At South Bend, Ind.—Tommy Gibbons of St. Paul knocked out Dan O'Dowd of New York in the third round.
